Cowboy Girl

NITA MAE BOYD

Miss Nita Mae Boyd, freshman at Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, has been selected as one of seven Ranch Girls who will participate in the 1942 Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth March 13-22.

Miss Boyd, 19, is the daughter of C. E. Boyd, Sweetwater cattleman. At Hardin-Simmons she is a flag carrier for the Cowboy band. In addition she teaches a class in horsemanship.

She was selected to be a 1942 Ranch Girl because of her range background and because of an excellent record at West Texas rodeos and expositions.

The only blonde among the 7 Ranch Girls who will participate in Fort Worth, Miss Boyd is five feet six inches tall and weighs 125 pounds.

She has sponsored rodeos at the Double Hart, Coleman, Cisco, LaMesa, Abilene, and Spur, winning saddles, boots, spurs, and several cash prizes.

Miss Boyd, owner of a herd of 150 Aberdeen Angus cows, plans to own and operate a ranch when she completes her college work.

She will ride her favorite horse, Zip, a quarter, in the show at Fort Worth.

Whooping Cough Among Children

Speaking of whooping cough and the need for controlling this childhood disease, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Office, states that the death rate from whooping cough in the United States increased in 1941 almost 33 per cent over the rate for 1940.

"The only source from which whooping cough may be contracted is another case of whooping cough," he stated, "and isolation of cases must be universally practiced to prevent spread of the disease."

The infectious agent or germ of whooping cough is transmitted by droplets expelled in coughing, and sneezing or speaking, Dr. Cox said. The discharges from the nose and throat are dangerous; the need for early recognition and careful isolation of whooping cough is obvious.

The first sign of this disease is usually a dry cough, which persists night and day and tends to become more severe. The disease is fully developed when vomiting of food and whoop accompany the paroxysm of cough. Children who have whooping cough must not attend school or come in contact with other children, until three weeks after the appearance of typical signs of the disease.

"Prevention and control of whooping cough, especially among infants and small children, may be accomplished through use of approved vaccine and convalescent serum, and it is important to the child's health that such measures be taken to protect him."

Jones Co. Agent Chas. V. Griffin Says That

A large number of farmers have been asking questions relative to the planting of soy beans as a national defense crop. Soy beans are adapted to the soil and climate conditions of a large part of the cotton region. They will grow on practically any soil that produces cowpeas successfully, although seed production varies greatly from year to year, depending on weather conditions, and yields are uncertain.

Soy beans are legumes and can be planted very successfully in alternate rows with grain sorghums, but should wait until the grain is from one to two feet in height before planting the beans, thus giving the soil plenty of time to "warm up." They can be planted with an ordinary planter used for cotton and grain.

Good varieties are Macoupin, Arksley, Mamloxi, Mammoth Yellow, Biloxi, and Laredo. All varieties should be inoculated with bacterial culture before planting. When planted in alternate rows with grain sorghum around one-fourth to one-third of a bushel of seed is required per acre, but when planted straight twice the amount or less is required.

Any one planning to plant soy beans and desiring further information should contact the County Agent's office.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Some increase in attendance last Sunday indicated that people are getting accustomed to the new time, making it possible for us to go right ahead with our Sunday school and worship services as we have been.

With spring just ahead, we hope that we will really begin giving the church its proper place in our lives. Let's begin our MARCH TO CHURCH IN MARCH by being in services somewhere next Sunday, the first day of the new month. We give you a hearty welcome at the First Baptist church.

Biggest Printing Job

America's great sugar rationing program will begin within a few weeks. Like other tasks in the vast world-wide fight to preserve freedom, this program began as a job of printing. It is the greatest single job of printing ever tackled, though, by the Government Printing Office. It is a job which called for more than 700,000,000 forms and cards and booklets. These required between 11 and 12 million pounds of paper!

PRINTING JOB DIVIDED
The Government Printing Office staff split the country into sections according to products and distributing areas. It also had to keep a sharp eye on transportation facilities, because the distribution of the ration books and forms will involve some 200,000 bills of lading.

More than 350 bids were received on the printing work, and from these contracts were awarded to 23 firms located strategically between the East coast and the West coast. These firms, of course, will supplement the work of the Government Printing Office itself.

Mrs. W. C. Russell left Friday for Mexico City to attend a Garden Club Convention. A party of 50 Texas women will make the trip.

Citizens Will Register Voluntarily, Sat.-Sunday

All Jones County citizens, men, women and children above a certain age are asked to voluntarily register, or enroll, in their communities this Saturday and Sunday.

Now this is a precautionary step. It is a form of DEFENSE against whatever might happen, during this WAR TIME. It is a Citizen volunteer movement, urged by the government, and backed up by government approval.

In Hamlin, registration will start at 9:00 A. M. Saturday, February 28 and will continue through the day till 6:00 P. M. at the Red Cross Rooms.

Again Sunday afternoon, beginning at 2:00 P. M. registration will start in the Red Cross rooms. There will be 20 or 30 typewriters lined up to handle everyone who may want to register. Some may have to wait, and some may have to hold back and let others in till Sunday, or later.

In the rural communities, the school houses will be used in the same manner, however one community, DOVIE, announces that they will register at the school house Sunday afternoon. Folks in the country, investigate and see when you can register.

But remember this: You can register anywhere in Jones Co. it may be most convenient. On your card, furnished by the government, you will give your address and it makes no difference where you register, your card will finally reach its right file. Remember, nobody is making anybody register, but everybody is expected to register. This is getting a first hand picture of who we are, and what we might be called upon to do. All of us can do something. What is it? Sign up, for one thing. Don't forget it, and don't let your neighbor forget it. You may never be called upon, and we may never hear a word of this registration again, but if circumstances require, every citizen will be listed and will be called into the field of activity that war time may demand.

Listed below are the contributions made and by whom sponsored according to communities:

Fisher Co. Folks Give $252.65 to Paralysis Fund to Fight Disease

J. C. Dalton, County Chairman, Jewell Hipp, County Vice-Chairman and Sam Morgan, Treasurer of the Fisher County Infantile Paralysis Fund, wish to take this means of thanking each and everyone who contributed or who assisted in making this drive a success. The total amount contributed was $252.65.

After the federal tax on tickets that were sold was deducted the total was $227.06; half this amount was sent to the State Office and the other half remains in the county to assist cases of Infantile paralysis. The money that is sent to the State Office is used for further scientific study in learning how to control this dreaded disease by doctors and nurses. Doctors have said that this disease usually attacks specimens who are perfect pictures of health and are exceptionally high in mentality. The disease as well as leaving the person in a crippled state will also have a high nervous tension.

Out in Plainview, the last report was that they had gathered up about 10,000 pounds and still there was more in the community. Now let's remember one 1000 pound bomb, dropped right will sink a 30,000 ton battle ship. Also remember it takes 56,000 pounds of material, mostly iron, to make a 28 ton tank, and every pound of iron counts in the months of war ahead.

Iron, More Iron For Japan and Germany

Did anybody ever see such response in this country? Who said Japan had already gotten all the scrap iron in this section of the country? Not yet, but from indications, she will get quite a bit some day.

People in every community are rounding up every conceivable bit of old iron and delivering it to centers designated.

Piles of iron can be seen all about now. In Hamlin, there are several commercial dealers and besides there is the Pioneer gin yard that has a great lot of scrap iron and more coming in every day. This is a service by the Hardens to help out. The gin company and for that matter, all dealers in scrap iron are paying cash for old iron.

A LITTLE BIT ABOUT

AND A LITTLE BIT OF

By Force of Arms—

Sometimes things happen in lives of a human race that are so puzzling that one is made to feel "dumb" when he tries to figure out just why.

It is deplorable, when one contemplates on how the pages of history have unfolded and revealed humanity always in some kind of horrid struggle, in some quarter of this old mundane sphere on which we live. In the short life of Ye Editor, it seems that most of the time horrors of human struggles have held the world's attention. In our boyhood days we heard of the terribleness of the Civil War days talked about till we were afraid of the dark. Then came the years of struggle of the Cuban people against oppression; later, the first Chinese-Japanese war; the Spanish-American war; the Russian-Japanese war; finally the Great World War; Then the great Armistice Day came when most of us thought mankind had had enough of destruction, bloodshed and misery, and wars would be no more, and we taught this present generation that utopian idea.

Again in this year 1942, practically every corner of the globe is in a life and death struggle, fighting over something. Who is to blame? You are asking a question, impossible to answer. Maybe the outbreak of this another World War, ten times bigger than that of 1914-1918, was caused by the narrow thinking of the American people.

Had America retained its fighting ships, and other "law enforcing" equipment, and bravely, and ruthlessly used it years ago, to make National Murderers do right, nobody would have wanted to start this war. No, we do not like this war, but what are we to do now but make every sacrifice to bring it to a close, and then stand up with our mighty navy, army and equipment and tell any nation, big or little, when they build war machines, we will regard it as an act of aggression and will take it as a personal national insult and assault on civilization.

This war must end and we sincerely believe, will end by the defeat of Germany, Italy and Japan and everyone of their henchmen. Their defeat must not be partial. It must mean the complete surrender or destruction of everyone of their submarines, battleships, airplanes, munitions plants, and disbandment of all sizeable armed forces. Then let us see to it for TWENTY-FIVE YEARS, that such things must not be rebuilt except at the risk of invasion and destruction. That is not far-fetched, it is possible and reasonable. FORCE is the only thing that will guarantee peace, and since force must be used, it must be in the hands of a nation that does not want anything some other nation has. The idea is simple, when sound reasoning is employed. It is as simple as the way West Texans banded themselves together to stop "gun totin'". Nobody goes armed now. If some man goes berserk we all pick up our rabbit shooters and go get him. That's war but it maintains peace. We got to go a long way, as a family of nations, to gain peace by force—but peace on earth by man must be by force.

—T & T—

Warships From Jalopies

The census of automobile graveyards has begun all over the nation. The object of this census, undertaken by the Bureau of Industrial Conservation with the help of the Department of Agriculture and the Works Progress Administration, is to obtain an accurate record of the amount of steel available in abandoned "jalopies" for making war materials.

Steel mills and foundries face a shortage of approximately six million tons of steel scrap during the year ahead. Many mills already have had to curtail production and others have had to close open hearth furnaces.

The most recently available figure—only an approximation—estimates that there are 3 to 4 million obsolete cars in graveyards, and that these contain 2 or 3 million tons of scrap steel that are now critically needed.

Listing of these jalopy graveyards began on February 17 by approximately 30,000 persons and it is hoped to have the job completed within two weeks.

Railroads Accomplish Masterful Achievement

In less than seven weeks following the attack on Pearl Harbor, some 600,000 troops were moved within the boundaries of the United States. That feat is unparalleled in the history of the country—and as David Lawrence writes, it "must be credited to the railroads of America, their executives and their workers. Nearly all of the railroads, involving more than 200,000 miles of track, were used. Seventy-five percent of the soldiers actually had sleeping accommodations, and the remainder traveled in day coaches, so not a single company had to be moved in freight cars, as was the case in the first World War.

"The colossal job is difficult to describe. It was a mammoth task in planning and administration. The Association of American Railroads, acting for all the railroads, sent out orders and worked on a 24-hour basis. The odd part of it was that the public hardly noticed the movement because delays to civilian traffic were the exception rather than the rule. There was no confusion, no lost trains—every moment in the day the authorities could keep track of every contingent.

"The railroads get half fare for the troops and it probably cost them a great deal of passenger revenue, but when the government called every thought except the military purpose was subordinated. It was a masterful achievement."

Twenty years of planning since World War I went into the achievement—20 years of work and preparation. The railroads didn't wait for war to come before adapting themselves to war. They were ready long before the first enemy bomb fell in the Pacific.

Medical Men Are Miracle Makers

Medical science continues to produce miracles—miracles that cheat death, that give life and health and happiness to mankind.

Writing in the Reader's Digest, Paul de Kruif tells of one of them. In the past, peritonitis following appendicitis has meant a death rate running as high as 75 per cent. Each year some 25,000 Americans have died after appendectomies. Medical authorities knew that when an appendix burst, billions of intestinal microbes were sprayed out. But they had no remedy.

But the doctor never admits failure. Experimentation went on. And finally, a way was found to use that amazing saver of life, sulfamamide, in treating peritonitis. The result: One doctor and his co-workers last year handled 331 successive emergency cases of acute appendicitis—without a single death! And other physicians had comparable success.

"As the news of this simple, powerful science spreads from coast to coast," writes Paul de Kruif, "many thousands of lives will be saved. The humblest backwoods surgeon today can be a more successful death fighter against peritonitis than the greatest knifeman and surgeon years ago. All the citizens who get this news, and all the practicing physicians and surgeons, can now get together in a drive toward this goal: appendicitis mortality—zero!"

The American system of private medicine has been responsible for unrivaled progress in a war which never ends—the war against disease, against pain, against human waste. In these days of military war—with all the new perils to health that world-wide conflict creates, the men of medicine are redoubling their efforts. Their service to this nation and the world cannot be overestimated in value or praised too highly.

Congressman Russell Did Not Vote For Pensions Legislation

The Herald has a copy of the Congressional Record, dated Feb. 19, in which we see a speech by our congressman, Hon. Sam Russell. We feel it fair to him to reprint a portion of that speech, especially a part of what he said about his stand on the much talked of "Pensions for Congressmen". See page 1496.

"Mr. Speaker, there was on the 21st day of January passed by this body, under the unanimous consent rule, H. R. 3487, which among other provisions, provided for elective and appointive Federal officers to come under the Civil Service Retirement Act, referred to by the newspapers and the people as pensions for Congressmen. This bill was not on the calendar for the day's business, but it was brought up after the regular business on the calendar had been completed. It was brought up at a time when, in my opinion, there were not over 20 Members on the floor of the House; brought up at a time when at least 400 Members of this House were not on the floor; and these Members had no idea that a measure with such provisions would be brought up.

I did not vote for this bill; I could not vote for such a bill. I have always been opposed to such principles. After I learned the next day that a bill with such provisions in it had got by the House, I hoped and believed that the President would veto it. Then, as the House adjourned over the week end, on Thursday, the 22nd, I waited, and on Tuesday next, which was the 27th of the month, word came that the President had approved the bill. I was disappointed and I then took the floor of the House and voiced my sentiments against this bill. I stated then, and I feel now, that this was one of the worst bills that ever got by an American Congress. I felt that way then; I feel that way now. . . .

"While it is true that Federal Judges are retired on full pay after serving a required length of time, I say to you that this is not right. On the contrary, it is wrong. Some day, and I hope not too far distant—the American people will right this wrong." . . .

"The last argument in favor of the Retirement Act for Congress is that it will make them independent so that they will not be afraid to cast their votes because of political pressure, and the country would receive better representation. This is also the argument usually given in support of retirement for Federal judges; and to me, when it is fully analyzed, is an indictment of the honesty, integrity, and patriotism of every Member of Congress and every Federal judge. To me it rings with unexpressed words * * * 'For money you will be honest; for money you will vote your convictions; for money you will make a better, independent Representative—money that you did not know of when you went before your people and asked them for the privilege of serving them; money that you did not count upon when you accepted the responsibilities and honors of representing those who sent you here.' It is an implication that your honesty and integrity are for sale."

EDITORIAL NOTE: Dear Mr. Russell, we, for one are glad to get this first hand information on how you stood on the much citizen-opposed pensions for congressmen. The Herald is glad to help pass on this information in this end of your district.

Now here's our idea about "pensions" for any governmental employee person. He or she is not due a single thing more from taxpayers than any other citizen and if the government is helping states pay pensions to the needy, let the man who drew money from the public treasury stand in the same line and ask for the small sum like old John Doe who has toiled all his life to keep himself and family a modest living. Of all persons who should not have retirement benefits it is the ones who have been drawing down big pay for years, or even one year of government employment. We got to cut out something and public officials, whether elected or appointed should first feel the cut. Sure, let's stop paying Federal judges full pay upon retirement, or even one penny after retirement. If a congressman, a judge or "an anybody" who for years received several thousands of dollars from the government is so down and out and needy as to need help, then somebody got cheated when said person was elected or appointed. They were just not worth much to their

Sugar Aplenty for Canning—

Housewives are going to have plenty of sugar for home canning this summer and every effort is being made to have it available. That is the assurance of J. B. Joyce, acting manager of the War Production Board's Southwest priorities field office in Wichita Falls.

Mr. Joyce emphasizes that the monthly allocations of refined sugar are taking into account the sugar that will be needed this summer for home canning.

"The supply may be somewhat limited," he explained, "just as the supply for daily consumption is limited; but it will be sufficient to enable housewives to can what they need."

He added that reports have come to his office that some housewives are buying more sugar than they need for normal family use, and are explaining that they want to be sure of having enough sugar for home canning this summer.

"That sort of buying is unnecessary and it is also unwise," Mr. Joyce warns. "It aggravates a situation that already is difficult. We are making every effort to see that sugar is made available for home canning next summer and Washington advises us that the Office of Price Administration will handle its distribution."

Vitamins aplenty here...

but do they ever reach your family table?

Vitamin-saving is easier
with modern GAS cooking

THE FULL ENERGY of every American is necessary in this emergency and making America strong includes making Americans stronger.

Guns and Vitamins

...it takes both to win a war!

"AN ARMY TRAVELS ON ITS STOMACH"—this is one fundamental that has not been changed in the technique of war. Likewise our civilian defense cooperation can be no better than our physical ability to meet our wartime responsibilities. But all the food planning and careful marketing in the world cannot preserve healthful vitamins unless care is exercised in the preparation of the food for the table.

THE RIGHT KIND OF FOOD is especially important these days. It can mean the difference between giving your family foods rich in healthful vitamins—and serving meals that have very few vital elements. Vitamin saving is easier with modern gas cooking methods.
